Sporting an elegant, fresh new aesthetic and built using premium materials and components, DOMINATOR TITANIUM DDR5 memory will be available for both Intel and AMD platforms, supporting Intel XMP 3.0 when paired with 12th and 13th-Gen Core processors or AMD EXPO for Ryzen 7000 CPUs. These technologies enable easy overclocking in just a couple of clicks on compatible platforms.

An exciting new feature with DOMINATOR TITANIUM is support for fully replaceable top bars, allowing owners to customize their memory for a specific aesthetic. Anyone looking to go for a minimalist or classic look can do so with the separately available Fin Accessory Kits that replace the RGB light bar with top bars that utilize fins for an elegant look that harkens back to the original DOMINATOR memory.

Boasting 11 vibrant individually addressable RGB LED along its removable top-bar, DOMINATOR TITANIUM offers seamless lighting arrays to illuminate your system. More advanced system-wide effects are possible when combined with the powerful CORSAIR iCUE Murals, for synchronized lighting that matches your music, games, or movies.

DOMINATOR TITANIUM will launch with kits in a range of speeds of up to 8,000MT/s, capacities up to 192GB (4x 48GB) and with CAS latencies as low as 30 on some SKUs. Future DOMINATOR TITANIUM kits will push the limits of DRAM performance even further, as new platforms unlock speeds beyond 8,000MT/s. DOMINATOR TITANIUM DDR5 memory kits for Intel platforms are available in a choice of white or black, while DOMINATOR TITANIUM DDR5 kits for AMD platforms are available in Cool Gray at launch.

CORSAIR will celebrate the launch of the latest version of DOMINATOR Memory with a limited run of First Edition kits, boasting tight timings and higher frequencies. Limited to just 500 kits per SKU, and individually numbered, enthusiasts will need to act fast to secure a unique piece of CORSAIR history.

As with all CORSAIR DDR5 memory, DOMINATOR TITANIUM modules are built using hand-sorted, tightly screened memory chips to ensure consistently high frequencies, atop performance PCBs for excellent signal quality and stability. Cooling these chips is a stylish solid aluminum heatspreader that efficiently conducts heat away from your memory, while complementing your system's modern aesthetic. A limited lifetime warranty grants you peace of mind that your new memory will last throughout your PC's lifespan and future upgrades.
